THE HUNTINGTON

THE UNFINISHED WORKS

In an unspoken exchange between artists throughout history, the designers at Morris & Co. have picked up the pen laid down by William Morris and John Henry Dearle to create The Unfinished Works. From The Huntington's remarkable library of documents come handcrafted and unmistakably original designs, translated across wallpapers, borders, fabrics, weaves, and embroideries.

Previously incomplete sketches have been thoughtfully uncovered and meticulously interpreted into new design iterations, authentically reimagining these hidden treasures in interiors through exceptional handcrafted techniques and processes.

The design team at Morris & Co., equipped with its own extensive archive and brand history, has completed these pieces, honouring the original documents with the detailed eye and creative talent of its modern-day studio. Upholding and honouring a 164-year legacy, The Unfinished Works is an astounding series of designs, finally completed in a moment of art history for the company founded by William Morris, to be enjoyed for generations to come.

From this collaboration come designs, finally completed and translated into exceptional products. Wallpapers echo the recognisable handwriting of Morris, Dearle, and the original creatives behind Morris & Co., maintaining the artist-to-artist connection through a series of annotations on the original artworks. Lovingly crafted hidden designs have been translated into printed fabrics and embroideries using intricate techniques by specialist mills for superior handcrafted finishes.

Morris & Co. Studio

"We hope William Morris and J. H. Dearle would be proud that we've followed the design trail they set out, bringing these designs to life as a creative team spread over the centuries. The Co. in Morris & Co. is alive and well in The Unfinished Works." Jess Clayworth, Lead Designer, Morris & Co.

All designs are created in the Morris & Co. studio in Chiswick, London.

HANDCRAFTED

“As artists, we’ve asked ourselves not what we should do but what we can do to preserve, refine, and finish these exquisite pieces of archival art, making them relevant to today and in the future, as pieces of art history.” Jess Clayworth, Morris & Co. In the handcrafted designs of The Unfinished Works, boundaries have been pushed to celebrate craft at every turn. Original designs have been translated into exceptional warp-printed weaves and embroideries using hand-woven techniques, overdyeing processes, and yarn blends for a signature, archival look.

Bluebell & Peony

Celebrating the beauty of the original document, which had a typical Morris visual narrative, this horizontal border has been translated into embroidery on a striped jacquard ground. Swirling acanthus leaves, peonies and bluebells are edged by woven stripes and a detailed decorative stripe featuring a vine of leaves and buds.

Chamomile

Taken from an incomplete sketch, which is believed to be an early idea for embroidery, this soothing and unassuming design is attributed to William Morris. The Morris & Co. studio carefully evolved the original artwork, honouring Morris's intent while finishing the composition. Where Morris had marked out stitches for embroidery, the design team retained this delicate linework, preserving the charm and honesty of the original drawing. Unique and authentic, just like Morris.

Clover & Vine

From a densely covered design featuring small jasmine flowers and a leafy vine, this pattern has evolved from the original document to embrace the repeat. Clover & Vine represents the artistic hand of today's designers, an interpretation viewed through fresh eyes and enriched with a new depth of colour. This handcrafted woven design is monochromatic, with the indigo colourway appearing as batik in the finish.

Cornflower

A design by the artistic hands of John Henry Dearle, Cornflower is a bold composition in his signature vine-like style. An inscription in the margin of the original archive document reads, "Will something like this do/ for the suggested staircase paper/ a la vine tapestry?/

H.D." signalling the wonderful artist-to-artist connection this collection embraces across the centuries. Cornflower is a celebration of florals, featuring tulips, acanthus, daisies and, of course, the cornflower itself.

Honouring the characteristics of Scrolling Tulip, with its meandering ogee pattern formed of tulip heads and acanthus leaves, Etched Scrolling Tulip draws out the delicate pencil lines found at the edges of the original artwork. HANGING INSTRUCTIONS

This design is made up of five 300cm high drops of wallpaper, supplied and printed as one continuous roll measuring 68.5cm in width. The individual drops are indicated by a cut line for ease of hanging.

This wallcovering is printed digitally onto a non-woven base, which is strong and flexible, allowing the wall to be pasted rather than the substrate itself. The wallcovering can be tailored to room height by removing any excess from the top and / or bottom of each length. To achieve the best result we recommend the use of a professional decorator experienced in hanging wide width papers.

Meda Iris

With margin notes signed off by J.H. Dearle, which the design team have used to guide their artistic interpretation, Meda Iris is reimagined as a small-scale design. Oak & Blossom

A unique design, Oak & Blossom was initially intended for stained glass, possibly by Duncan Dearle, J.H. Dearle's son. Refined and repainted, the layout has been transformed while retaining the stained-glass references. A double stripe underlies a graceful arrangement of blossoms, oak leaves, and acorns. A block-printed texture has been added to this otherwise graphic design, and a soft palette complements the stripped-back look.

Persian Scroll Embroidery

Concentrating on the stylised elements of the central motifs, Persian Scroll Embroidery is an exceptional fabric, crafted using a dissolvable thread to resist dye in some areas. Each colour catches differently across the embroidery, creating pools of pigment, and the ground has a subtle texture of colour. This particular dye technique is very special – it feels aged, lived in and like an artefact for the modern home. The rich, authentic colourways perfectly suit the Persian influence of the design, beloved by William Morris.

Due to the overdye process, a unique finish is created, creating subtle differences from batch to batch.

Walthamstow

Walthamstow, an area of great significance to William Morris, is an adaptation of an artwork for carpet, held at The Huntington. Its vertical border, sketched initially in graphite, contains stylised honeysuckles, which the design team have incorporated in this beautifully translated pattern, with mirroring indicative of the typical 19th-century style. Wild Tulip & Vine

Tulips, which frequently appear in the Morris & Co. archive, are seen in this Huntington document, where leafy vines fill the ground and vertical scrollwork is interspersed with stylised flowers. THE UNFINISHED WORKS
STRIPES

Coloured and designed to complement the entire portfolio, The Unfinished Works Stripes reference the border details in designs found in The Huntington's library. Hand-loomed woven designs come to the fore with intricate decorative detail in a true expression of craftsmanship. This series, which celebrates these new stripes, brings a range of weights and constructions to the portfolio for beautiful coordination.

Bexleyheath Stripe

A brand-new design by the Morris & Co. team, inspiration was taken from the sinuous line featured in the Scrolling Tulip design to create this refined stripe. Embroidered dots are hand-guided in a true expression of craftsmanship. Embroiderers are involved in every step of the process, ornamenting these fabrics with decorative elements. Named after the location of the Red House, Bexleyheath Stripe is a demonstration of exceptional craftsmanship in 100% cotton.

Hanover Check

A bold, statement check, based on a book cover by Sanderson/Emery Walker Doves Press, Hanover Check is inspired by a small corner, which contributes to the decorative elements of this check. Unexpected and characterful, Hanover Check captures the spirit of heritage reimagined. The name references a historic showroom location for Morris & Co. Crafted in 100% cotton.

Lechlade Stripe

A new design by Morris & Co., featuring beautiful, embroidered chevron stripes inspired by the many interesting borders in The Unfinished Works collection. This results in an artisanal, textured stripe weave of exceptional quality and wonderful tactile richness in striking colour combinations. Bold and full of heritage charm, Lechlade adds depth to upholstered pieces in traditional and contemporary settings. Named for the location of Kelmscott Manor and crafted in 60% jute and 40% cotton.

Pimlico Stripe

Inspired by an original document, possibly designed for a carpet, Pimlico uses the borders as inspiration for this woven stripe. An interpretation of the Ornamental Frieze design, it features richly embroidered details, including a chevron band and a central motif, lovingly layered over a woven stripe. Pimlico Stripe is crafted in 70% linen and 30% cotton.

Wisley Weave

This check, named for its association with the horticultural garden at Wisley, makes charming reference to the stylised flowers and dotted lines featured in the original document. The original design's purpose is unknown, but the design team viewed it as a tile design, translating it into a smart weave with subtle texture. Now, the four flowerheads sit at the cross-section of this newly imagined check design.

Woodford Stripe

Woodford Stripe features a distinctive checkerboard section inspired by the border details of the Walthamstow design, bringing this weave together in colour and detail with intriguing textural elements. Named after Woodford Hall, where Morris resided between 1840 and 1847. Crafted in 70% cotton and 30% jute.

THE UNFINISHED WORKS
BORDERS

Imaginative borders return to the portfolio in a timeless take on traditional decorative paper. Referencing designs originally intended for stained glass and carpet, each sketch has been meticulously reimagined for new design iteration, resulting in a range of new borders and friezes.

Bluebell & Peony Border

Celebrating the beauty of the original document, which had a typical Morris visual narrative, this horizontal border wallpaper of swirling acanthus leaves, peonies and bluebells brings a return of borders to the Morris & Co. portfolio.

Ornamental Frieze

The original artwork suggests it was designed for a carpet border. Stylised floral and leaf formations are edged by striped and decorative borders, top and bottom. Two contrasting colourways showcase the versatility and ornate structure of this beautiful frieze.

St John's Border

A formal pattern of intertwining grape vines was initially conceived for a stained-glass window by Duncan Dearle (J. H. Dearle's son). Designed for a Palmer's Green window titled "Calling of St John" for St John the Evangelist, this recognisable motif creates an elegant border design.
